DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of claims 1-14 in the reply filed on 04/12/05 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3, 4, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hite et al. (US patent 4,863,878).

With respect to claim 1, Hite et al. teach a field effect transistor comprising (figs. 2A-2D and associated text):

a silicon substrate 21, wherein the top surface of said silicon substrate has an increased oxygen content when compared to other portions of said silicon substrate, and wherein said oxygen content of said top surface of said silicon substrate is below an amount that would prevent epitaxial growth (since an epitaxial layer is able to grow thereon);

an epitaxial silicon layer 27 above said top surface of said silicon substrate; and a gate stack above said epitaxial silicon layer (col. 3, lines 25-30).

With respect to claim 5, Hite et al. further teach source/drain dopants are limited to the epitaxial layer.

Art Unit: 2814

With respect to claim 3, Since Hite et al. teach the substrate having a top surface with an increased oxygen content, the presence of oxygen would limit the dopants within the epitaxial layer from moving into the substrate. With respect to claim 4, the recited process limitation has not been given weight in the patentability determination of the device claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2, 6, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hite et al. (US patent 4,863,878).

With respect to claim 2, the formation of source/drain halo regions is well-known.

With respect to claim 6, the formation of isolation regions in epitaxial layer and silicon substrate is well-known.

With respect to claim 7, the formation of sidewall spacers on gate conductor is well-known.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 8-14 are allowed.
